Context

Name

Aotearoa New Zealand Digital Advisory Group (the "DAG").

Type of Group

The DAG is a representative advisory group intended to provide support and perspective from software developers and digital service providers to the Inland Revenue Department (Inland Revenue) and other government agencies tasked with the smooth operation and ongoing digital transformation of the tax system.

Background

This charter (the "Charter") is maintained by the Association of Digital Service Providers Australia New Zealand (DSPANZ) on behalf of software developers (the Digital Service Providers or "DSPs") listed as members of the DAG.

DSPs have historically worked with Inland Revenue on digital initiatives but as separate voices in the industry. The DSPs consider it better for all interested parties if they have a common voice to work with IRD and other interested parties under a shared charter.

Terms of Reference

Purpose

This is to provide Inland Revenue with clarification on what the developer community requires to service New Zealand taxpayers and their intermediaries with world-class business, payroll and tax compliance software.
2. The purpose of this group has the following objectives:
 - a. Assist Inland Revenue with strategic initiatives such as which APIs to invest in.
 - b. Develop working groups to help implement these initiatives in a way that benefits the broader DSP group.
 - c. Develop a community of practice that is consistent with current and emerging global and regional standards.
 - d. The group provides a whole of industry perspective, which helps shape decisions impacting Inland Revenue's digital partners.
3. To be successful, this group will need buy-in from senior members of Inland Revenue. As such, it is intended that the DAG will:

- a. Have a champion at the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner level
- b. Be included early in the development of initiatives that impact the DSP group.
- c. Ensure senior subject matter experts and senior business leaders attend meetings.

Scope

1. The scope of the Digital Advisory Group is:
 - a. Represent DSPs in relation to tax and technology issues, as well as broader finance-based and whole-of-government applications with Inland Revenue.
 - b. Provide a representative view of DSPs rather than be a channel for individual or company issues.
 - c. Develop a process for identifying, documenting and addressing, in a timely fashion, issues and questions that software developers may raise.
 - d. Technical and architectural design issues for digital services supporting the New Zealand taxation system in the context of the whole of government and whole of industry.
 - e. Understand and help manage the Inland revenue-DSP partnership at a strategic level from a whole of industry and whole of Inland Revenue perspective.
2. Excluded from the scope of this group are:
 - a. Matters of a business or strategic nature which should be referred to the relevant project or initiative group.
 - b. Technical and architectural design issues that are specific only to a project or initiative which can be managed via the normal Inland Revenue change process.
